A. Second interrogation of Walter SCHELLENBERG, source U. 11

B. Good progress was made with detailed up to date chart of Amt 6 organization including names of personnel. This chart comprises the military department with recent additions such as "Mil Kommand 1" that is the deception section. The "Regiment 1001" in which now German Members of the Wehrmacht were trained for intelligence work and also the "Kommando Meldegebiete" inside Germany and abroad. As soon as this chart is complete and properly executed, it will be forwarded to you.

C. Information was obtained on Ludwig NEUBERG chief of Spanish Desk Amt 6 described as "unimportant man" and Carl ARNOLD who organized and ran from Spain whole messenger service to South America and to whom it was due that Amt 6 received its South American bag until the very end. ARNOLD whose agents were mostly Brazilians or Argentines sent valuable intelligence regarding United Kingdom. He had contact inside British Embassy Madrid. Josef GOTTLOB in Lisbon obtained intelligence from English girl friend there.

D. FIDRONG had a group of 10 to 12 men working for him in London.
They reported on Army, Navy, and Air Force matters. They were mostly Spaniards and Portuguese. One English businessman belonged to this group. A number of V-1 and V-2 hits were reported almost immediately and found to be correct. SCHELLENBERG says that both STEFME and GARNAP know names of these agents. Advises questioning them if captured.

E. Fritz CRAMER had also "good men" in England mostly Swedes who reported chiefly on aircraft industry.

F. KUHLENBELL received United Kingdom reports from two Spaniards one of whom probably a South American diplomat. These reports were of purely military character.
